PROFILE

Detail-oriented and focused student with knowledge of Physiology, Biological systems and modelling, programming using Python, HTML and CSS languages, and a lot of technical know-how gained through years of learning and experience in the Biomedical engineering field. I'm aiming to leverage my abilities to successfully fill the vacancy at your company. Although I don't have many years of working experience due to limits set by other educational engagements, I am diligent, very eager to learn and be of service, and I firmly believe that I can be relied upon to help your company achieve its goals.
